

Part time female ministry team member 1.5–3 days/week (negotiable)

Start 2019 or earlier if possible

Willoughby Park Anglican Church is an evangelical church on Sydney's Lower North Shore, and is seeking a female part-time ministry team member. The role may be suitable for someone currently studying and looking for a student minister position.

Key responsibilities include: joining our Friday night youth leadership team and Sunday morning children's ministry, and working with our Families Minister, Joel Moroney.

Our Friday evening youth group is currently led by Joel plus three experienced leaders. The group has plenty of room to grow, with about a dozen youth currently attending each week. We would love for a godly Christian woman to disciple our young women.

Our primary age Sunday morning children's program currently has around 15-20 children attending each week. Responsibilities would include: developing and delivering content, discipling children, and training and coordinating volunteer leaders.

Other ministry responsibilities are negotiable with the right candidate and may include: teaching SRE in our local schools, discipling and teaching women, teaching discipleship/PTC type courses, and coordinating special events.

Essential requirements: clearance to work with children through the NSW Government Working with Children Check, as well as current (or willingness to complete) Safe Ministry Training.
